Jap Election Laws a Maze of Regulations

By KENNETH ISHII
TOKYO (AP)—Any candidate who wants to get elected Sunday to Japan's 486-member House of Representatives must successfully weave through a maze of do's and don'ts that may be the strictest in the world.

So complex are the election laws — first passed in 1950 and revised several times — that the government has published a 200-page condensation in book form at 300 yen — 83 cents — a copy.

Campaign automobiles that solicit votes through loudspeakers are limited to one per candidate. If a candidate wants to use a boat instead of a car, that's all right — but only one boat.

Vote-soliciting by cars must be limited. Policy utterances are banned, except when the car stops.

A candidate is allowed 60 speeches for the official three-week campaign.

No handbills may be distributed.

A candidate can use television but is limited to a brief flash of his picture on the screen during which a station announcer presents his personal history. Three radio speeches are authorized each candidate.

A candidate may serve only "tea and light cookies" to visitors.

Prime Minister Eisaku Satō says the high cost of getting elected encourages corruption.

Diamonds are stones whose sparkle is reflected in the

Alabama Is Fighting to Avoid Cutoff

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee has promised to help all he can in Alabama's fight against a threatened cutoff of federal welfare funds.

"I think you have made a strong case on behalf of Alabama," Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., told former Gov. George C. Wallace Wednesday after Wallace testified before Long's committee.

Wallace said the cutoff order by Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner is illegal and "just the beginning" of an arbitrary grab for power. Gardner has ruled that Alabama will get no federal funds after Feb. 28 for its public assistance and child welfare programs unless it gives assurance in writing that the programs are being administered without racial discrimination.

Wallace appeared before the Finance Committee as a special assistant to the present governor, his wife Lurleen. And he gave the committee a statement from Mrs. Wallace in which she declared "our cause is a just one. And we intend no deviation from it."

Wallace met a generally friendly reception from Southern senators and some Republicans on the committee. Long said the hearing transcript would be sent to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He added he would contact the department to see what defense it could make for its action.

FOR AND AGAINST SCHOOL UNIFORMS

Dear Helen: You predicted all the kids would be against school uniforms. You're wrong! We've had them in our Jackson Public High School, California, for 20 years and most of us students like them.

These uniforms consist of shoes, socks (no nylons) a black or dark blue skirt, (which can't be above the top of the knee cap), and a tailored white blouse. To dress them up, we can wear sweaters, shells, vests, jackets and panchos.

In a neighboring school girls wear $20 and $30 suits to school, and their nylon bill is ridiculous. We think we're lucky—we can save our money for really nice date clothes, and still come out ahead.

As a break from the uniforms we have a mufi day once each month, and on the last week of school we can wear whatever we please.

The boys have no uniform, but they must tuck their shirts in and otherwise be neat.—FOR SHCOOL UNIFORMS

Dear Helen: Please, please, no school uniforms! Adults are always yelling about teens being conformists, and then one of them suggests the ultimate in conforming. Ugh!

If a girl knows how to shop wisely and mix and match she doesn't have to spend a fortune on clothes.

Please, too, adults—don't suggest we go back to babyish bow by sox. Nylons aren't so expensive if you wash them out every night and take care of them.—AGAINST UNIFORMS AND BOB-BY SOX

Dear Helen: I went to a parochial school and then public school. I liked the uniforms best. And I hate nylons for everyday wear!—JENNELLE

Dear Readers: Surprise! Surprise! I figured not one teen in 50 would go for school uniforms, and whaddayaknow—the vote is running 60 per cent in favor!

This mostly from girls who do not presently wear uniforms, resent the expense and bother of "keeping up with Miss Jones."—H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If Andrew A. Rooney, writer and producer of CBS's Tuesday night's "Essay on Women" is as smart as he seems to be, he'll get out of town and hide until furious feminine reaction to his effort dies down.

The twinkle in the eyes of his narrator, Harry Reasoner, did not make amends for all those snide things he was saying about us. What made things worse was that he demonstrated by film that he was often right.

Rooney, who has demonstrated his affection for doors and bridges in earlier television essays, seems to like us in spite of everything.

Bravely risking a broad generality, his thesis was that "what men want from women is love, a clean house, forgiveness and a stubborn holding to moral values." Obviously, he wishes we would stop stewing about such things as establishing our own identities, get back in the home and concentrate on dinner and dusting.

Rooney poked devastating fun at clubwomen fretting over woman's status and at working women. His reflections on the military woman may be the despair of recruiting officers.

When he was dealing with woman in the family — wife and mother — he was downright sentimental.

He agreed that "housewife" is a terrible word, and that modern appliances have actually increased woman's work because she now tackles twice as much. He stated unequivocally that most American women are good shoppers but bad cooks, that women who work give up their own sense of values for men's position, power and money. He said that women with power "are mean to each other," and use more authority than is necessary.

The unkindest cuts were his illustrations — fat lady shoppers in tight forehead pants, a bossy supervisor brusquely ordering around a member of her staff, a military review of women in dowdy, mannish uniforms.

He was most interesting when philosophizing on man's relationship to women — "Men like women anywhere and at work is no exception. One man on the other hand, is never really comfortable when the one woman he likes best, works. A man does not like to share a woman with anyone."

Reasoner, at the outset announced that the format itself had been prepared by men and made no claim to being fair. It wasn't, but it was literate and witty.

NBC will present a two-hour adaptation of the musical comedy hit, "Damn Yankees" April 8, but has not announced the stars. It is expected that the network will also present an adaptation of Irving Berlin's "Annie Get Your Gun" with Ethel Merman sometime in March.

Still a Golf Champion at Age of 86

WESLEY PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When the contestants in the 28th annual PGA Seniors' Teacher Trophy Championship convene for their daily sunset vigil their talk often veers to golf right after the war.

With the 402 contenders all more than 50 years of age, the war they refer to more often than not is World War I. But when George Livingstone of Nashville, Tenn., tosses in an observation it could be the Spanish-American War he is thinking about.

He is an 86-year-old defending champion in Division 8, for players over 85.

A year ago he went around the national PGA course, where par is 36-36-72, in 47-48-95. Then he participated in a driving contest for super seniors over 75 and grabbed fourth place with a belt of 181 yards.

The years have treated the wiry little Tennessee and his game kindly.

SMU Fights Back, Beats Okla. City

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Baylor showed few ill effects of a two-week layoff and Southern Methodist resorted to another come-from-behind finish as the two Southwest Conference teams won non-conference games Wednesday night.

The Mustangs defeated Oklahoma City 92-82 in their last game before Tuesday night's important clash with conference-leading Texas Christian at Dallas.

Baylor returned to basketball action after the semester break and raced past winless Tarleton State 108-78. It was Tarleton's 14th consecutive loss this season.

In beating the Chiefs for the second time this season, Southern Methodist received a 30-point performance from sophomore Bill Voight and an additional 21 points from another first-year man, Lynn Phillips.

Oklahoma City shot into a 70-63 lead late in the game but the Mustangs came back with five consecutive baskets. Phillips broke a 77-77 tie with a basket and SMU never trailed again.

It was the Mustangs' last non-conference game, winning seven and losing three. They have an 11-4 record for the season.

Baylor got off to a 7-0 lead in the opening minutes of its last non-conference game. Six of its seven victories this season were against non-conference teams. It has lost six games.

Tarleton hit 56 per cent of its field goals to Baylor's 53 per cent but the Bears had a 25-17 edge in rebounding.

Sonny Roberson, Tarleton freshman, scored 25 points. Darrell Hardy led Baylor with 24 and teammates Jimmy Turner and Steve Bartels added 23 each.

Rangers and Hawks Split the Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers battling for the National Hockey League lead most of the season, have split the six first team All Star berths down the middle.

Each club grabbed three berths on the first half All Star squad with New York goalie Ed Giacomin and defenseman Harry Howell and Chicago center Stan Mikita unanimous choices in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities.

The other Black Hawks chosen were Bobby Hull at left wing and Pierre Pilote on defense. The third Ranger selection was right winger Rod Gilbert.

Every club in the league had one man chosen on the second team, the first time in seven years that's happened.

Charlie Hodge of Montreal was selected as goalie with Toronto's Tim Horton and Boston's Bobby Orr chosen on defense. Center Norm Ullman of Detroit, left wing Donnie Marshall of New York and right wing Ken Wharram of Chicago complete the second unit.

Giacomin, Howell and Mikita each polled the maximum 90 points. Hull received 84 points, Gilbert 80 and Pilote 70 in the voting.

Selection to the first team carries a $500 bonus from the league. Players chosen for the second team receive $250 each.

Bill Crothers of Toronto, Ricardo Urbina of Georgetown, Franz Josef Kemper of West Germany, and NCAA champ Peter Scott of Nebraska will battle in the 880, while Martin McGrady the indoor record-holder from Central, Ohio State, leads the 600-yard entrants.

Hope Girls Team Going Great

S. Illinois Apparently Out to Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southern Illinois, which reached the top of the small college basketball poll three weeks ago, apparently has no intention of stepping down from the No. 1 spot.

The Salukis, 11-2, increased their margin over Kentucky Wesleyan in this week's Associated Press poll after defeating the Panthers 52-51 at Owensboro, Ky., and Wichita of the tough Missouri Valley Conference, 77-55.

The victories brought SIU 13 first place votes and 139 points and the top position for the third straight week after finishing third in the poll the last two seasons behind Evansville in 1965 and Cheyney State last year.

Kentucky Wesleyan, 10-1, which led through the early season, drew only one top vote and 124 points, still far ahead of third-ranked Cheyney, 14-0, which had three first place votes and 89 points.

Seventeen voters were cast by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters with points awarded on a basis of 10 for first place, nine for second, etc.

Tennessee State took the biggest stride, moving from sixth to fourth after victories over Nebraska Wesleyan, Union and Bellarmine.

Trinity, Tex., was the only newcomer in the Top Ten, replacing Lincoln, Mo., in the 10th spot after whipping Abilene Christian.

Tennessee State's jump dropped Akron and Grambling each a notch to fifth and sixth. Indiana State, San Diego State and Pan American retained their positions at seventh, eighth and ninth, respectively.

Griffith's Managers Want Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith's managers want a little time before they make any commitment for their fighter's title defense against Italy's Nino Benvenuti at Madison Square Garden, March 22.

"We haven't had much time to breathe since Emile's win over Joey Archer last Monday night," said Gil Clancy, trainer and manager of the middle-weight champion, after a visit to the Garden Wednesday.

Benvenuti, meanwhile, was hoping to get permission from the Italian Boxing Federation and European Boxing Union to delay defense of his European middleweight crown.

The EBU has named Spain's Luis Follo as the official challenger and wants Nino to fight

Clemente Has Joined the $100,000 Group

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Roberto Clemente has joined the select group of $100,000 a year major league baseball players.

The National League's Most Valuable Player in 1966 signed Wednesday to play again for the Pittsburgh Pirates, who are expected by many to win the 1967 pennant.

Eddie Mathews, recently traded to Houston by Atlanta, signed a reported $50,000 contract with the Astros in another star signing Wednesday.

Clemente, a hard-hitting outfielder with a lifetime average of .310, said he had "no problems whatsoever" in agreeing on terms with Joe L. Brown, the Pirate general manager.

Clemente said only that he got a raise, but a Pittsburgh spokesman indicated $100,000 would be about right making Clemente the highest paid player in Pirate history.

Other players in the $100,000 class include Frank Robinson of Baltimore, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals.

DiMaggio, Williams, Koufax and Musial are retired.

The most Babe Ruth, the famed home run slugger, ever received in one year from the Yankees was $80,000 in the pre-inflation era of more than 30 years ago.

Mathews, a veteran third baseman who hopes to reach the career plateau of 500 homers this season, became the highest paid player in the six-year history of the Astros. His reported $50,000 compares to the previous Astro high of $42,000 to Nellie Fox in 1964.

"I feel I should break 511 this year," Mathews said at the signing. He currently is tied with Lou Gehrig for sixth place at 493 on the all-time home run list.

Relief pitcher Dick Radatz and catcher Duke Sims agreed to terms with Cleveland, pitcher Wally Bunker with Baltimore and relief pitcher Casey Cox and first baseman Dick Nen with Washington in other Wednesday signings.

CAN'T FIGHT IT, BUY IT
URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Buying city hall has been the dream of Jackson M. Luker, a baker, for many years. He finally accomplished it after making a hobby of harassing various city administrations.

He purchased the shell of the old city building, which he will sell brick by brick for 20 cents a brick.

"I went over here to buy a couple of desks, and I wound up buying the whole thing," Luker said.

Fame Hall Eludes Two Players

NEW YORK (AP) — "There's not much I can do about it," said Red Ruffing when they told him the news, "I'm not going to worry."

Ruffing, the former great pitcher for the New York Yankees, narrowly missed being elected to baseball's Hall of Fame Wednesday. He finished in a tie with Joe Medwick, former outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, with 212 votes, just seven short of the number needed for election.

Roy Campanella, former catcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was a close third with 204 votes. For election, a player had to receive 75 per cent of the 292 votes cast by baseball writers.

A run-off between the top 31 vote-getters will be held in February and with a reduced field, Ruffing, Medwick or Campanella would seem to have a good chance of election. Barring a tie, only one player can be elected in the run-off.

Of the 68 players eligible for election, 48 received votes. This year's balloting was unusual in that no election was scheduled, but several ineligible players received votes last year, so the special election was decided upon.

The balloting next month will be Ruffing's last chance for election by writers to the Hall, since eligibility for election ends 20 years after retirement. Ruffing left the majors in 1947 after 22 seasons in which he compiled a career record of 273 victories, 255 losses and a 7-2 World Series mark.

Gogolak Has Been Drafted Into Army

FORT DIX, N.J. (AP) — Pete Gogolak, believed to have prompted the merger of the National and American football leagues by forsaking Buffalo of the AFL for New York of the NFL, now is leaving the Giants — for the Army.

The Hungarian-born place-kicker was inducted into military service Wednesday at Fort Dix and apparently will be lost for the 1967 season. He could be available for weekend kicking if he stays at Fort Dix.

Gogolak, 24, failed his physical tests last summer because of a childhood spinal injury. The government, however, has since relaxed physical requirements, and Gogolak passed the second test.

Gogolak left the Bills of the then rival AFL at the end of the 1965 season. Many felt his departure brought to a head the struggle between the leagues by opening the possibility of player raids. The merger followed a short time later.

Gogolak, who attended Cornell, and his younger brother, Charley, who attended Princeton, first stepped into the national spotlight by setting collegiate field goal and extra point records with their revolutionary soccer-style kicking methods. Charley now plays for the Washington Redskins of the NFL.

Both fled with their parents from Hungary after the 1956 revolution put down by the Russians.

Life In Arkansas

By LARRY KING

Associated Press Writer
Morris Frank turned to Joe Garagolla and suggested they both join the coaching profession to develop new material and how to deliver a joke.

Frank the master of ceremonies for the Arkansas Hall of Fame, made the remark in jest but he was serious about the excellence of Doug Dickey, the University of Tennessee's head football coach.

Dickey introduced Arkansas' head man, Frank Broyles, but diverted from the task slightly.

Dickey noted that Frank was a Hebrew and a public relations man. According to Dickey the first public relations man was with Moses when he opened up the Red Sea.

Moses discussed the situation with his generals as the enemy closed in. After rejecting a couple of suggestions Moses told the generals he would open the Red Sea and then close it to engulf the pursuers.

The supposed public relations man broke in: "Moses, baby, you do that and I'll guarantee you two pages in the Old Testament."

Dickey then said Alabama coach Bear Bryant, who is considered a near-God in Alabama, returned from a trip west concerned about his health.

"He and his wife went to the cemetery to pick out a burial plot," related Dickey. "They found one and asked the caretaker how much it was. They were told it sold for $95. Bear told the man he'd give him $100 because he only planned to be there three days."

And there was a recruiting trip to Malvern while Dickey was at Arkansas.

"I asked the Malvern coach if he had any boys that might be able to help us and he told me no. Then I asked him if he had played against teams that had some good boys. Again he said no."

"But they've got an official down at Hope you ought to get."

Dickey said he remembered the first year Hayden Fry, now the Southern Methodist head coach, was at Arkansas.

"We went down to Little Rock for that opening game. When the team ran out on the field 44,000 people stood up and called the hogs," said Dickey. "I was on the sidelines and Hayden was in the pressbox and the phone down on the field rang. It was Hayden. 'You'd better watch out,' he said. 'Every hot in Arkansas is headed this way.'"

Other Hall of Fame notes that seem to be worthy of more than file 13:

Frank said he offended Baylor University, a Baptist institution, when he was a salesman for a bottling company.

"If the Baptists don't use your whisky mixers you're out of business," said Frank. "The Baptists will do anything with whisky but buy it."

Frank also said his draft status was changed when he was in school, from 4-F to 5-F after the draft board got his report card mixed up with his classification papers.

Garagolla who was a catcher in the major leagues related what goes on when the manager, pitcher and catcher meet on the mound.

According to Garagolla one of his managers said, "I know you can get this guy out... you did when he led off the inning."

And after the pitcher has been pounded all over the park the manager asks the catcher if he's got anything.

"Yeah, athlete's foot, virus, etc."

Garagolla said the New York Yankees lost 36 games by one run last year. "They just seemed to get nosed out in the last eight innings," said Garagolla. "They finished last... it was a team effort."

Garagolla said he was glad he didn't play football. He said the players were too big.

"Why I'd be signalling for a fair catch on a handoff," said Joe. "I went home after one banquet and told my oldest son I had met Bubba Smith. He asked me what I said to him. Said nothing, I gave him a banana and two hershey bars."

Smith is the Michigan State All-American who is about six-foot-seven and weighs around 270.

Former Arkansas basketball coach Glen Rose was asked to take a turn at the mike.

He said he remembered an old maid who when she sneezed she conjured up an image of a handsome man. She went to the doctor with the problem.

"The doctor asked her what she was doing for the problem and she said, 'sniffing a little black pepper.'"

Britain Is Land of TV Watchers

LONDON (AP) — Swinging, switched-on Britain is a land of stay-at-home television watchers and do-it-yourselfers, according to a government statistical report published today.

"Britain 1967," compiled after much research by the central office of information, reported: Seven out of eight adults spend nearly every evening at home, watching television or mending things.

Four out of five families have a television set; the same proportion do their own interior decorating.

More than half the nation's families have yards, most of them carefully tended.

Jap Boat Shelled by Communists

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese fishing skipper reported today his boat was shelled by Communist Chinese shore batteries Jan. 14 shortly after he left the southeastern port of Fochow, Japan's Kyodo news service reported.

Ehiko Fukue, skipper of the Daishin Maru No. 2, said three shells fell about 12 yards from his vessel. He said the ship sped away at full speed, no one was hurt and the boat was not damaged.

Protestants Creeping in MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Every Sunday during services, unusual sounds creep into St. Marys Roman Catholic church in this western Pennsylvania community.

The sounds are that of a Protestant church service being broadcast by a local radio station.

By some oddity of electricity, the radio broadcasts were being picked up by the public address system in St. Marys. No one has found a way to overcome it.

PIG REARING IN CRISIS
BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Pig Breeders Association of Argentina has sounded a general alarm: The pork rearing industry is in a crisis.

Breeding methods are antiquated and inefficient, production costs have soared and market prices have not increased enough to make up for it.

Result: Argentina's hog population dropped by some 600,000 head — from 3.7 million to 3.1 million — between 1930 and 1965.

They are found in all countries, come in all sizes, and can be filled with just about anything edible. The ancient Romans called them OFFULA, the modern world calls them sandwiches. According to The World Almanac, the word "sandwich" comes from the British lord, John Montagu, 4th Earl of Sandwich. He is credited with having popularized the practice of slipping a piece of meat between two slices of bread.

Opening lead—3

One of the interesting features of this year's American team is that while the three pairs all play some version of Standard American, they play three widely different versions. Edgar Kaplan and Norman Kay use a weak no-trump opening when not vulnerable, which explains how Edgar found himself as declarer at a four spade contract in their all-important semi-final match against Rapee and Lazard.

Lazard made the good opening lead of the three of clubs against this contract and it was up to Edgar to show his mettle by making the hand.

The play is interesting as an example of expert technique. The seven, nine and king of clubs went on the first trick. Edgar drew three rounds of trumps to finish in his own hand, then led the six of clubs. After Lazard played the deuce dummy's eight lost to the East's jack.

Rapee returned a diamond. Kaplan took his ace and king and led a third club to dummy's ace. Then he led dummy's last club. Rapee was allowed to hold the trick with his queen as Edgar discarded his nine of diamonds.

Rapee was down to hearts and had to lead to dummy's king to give Edgar the contract trick.

Two declarers played and made three no-trump from the North seat when the queen of clubs was opened. One other South made four spades when West was kind enough to open a heart for him. The other four spade declarers failed to discover the throw-in play and went down one.

Edgar's fine play only represented a three IMP gain but the swing was 10 International Match Points since he would have lost seven if he had gone down.

Fulbright as Critic Is Called Vague

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Like Socrates of old, Sen. J. W. Fulbright tries to be a gadfly on the conscience of the community.

But sometimes there seems to be more buzz than bite.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, has been President Johnson's steadiest critic on foreign affairs. He flailed Johnson for his handling of the crisis in the Dominican Republic.

He has never let up on Johnson's handling of the war in Vietnam. Now he has put his ideas together in a just-published book, "The Arrogance of Power." It's an enlarged version of his lectures at Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies last year.

But Fulbright as a critic has been sometimes vague and, to this writer, unrealistic. This shows up in his book, too.

As an example of some of his past unrealistic: More than a year ago the Red Chinese outlined a plan for the conquest of the world by communism: revolutionary in underdeveloped countries could be used to encircle and defeat capitalist nations.

Nevertheless, Fulbright suggested trying to make a deal with Red China under which this country would withdraw its forces from Southeast Asia if the Chinese would let their neighbors alone.

The trouble with this is that the Chinese, while proclaiming innocence, could help in a concealed way the Communists in a backward country, particularly one bordering Red China, to take it over. And so on, step by step.

Now in his book Fulbright outlines a plan for restoring peace in Vietnam although, if you follow him to the end, it's a plan which could wind up solving nothing and leave the United States completely baffled.

Boiled down, this is his idea: The United States, South Vietnam, the Viet Cong and Communist North Vietnam should try to work out peace. The American side would first seek a cease-fire and stop the bombing of North Vietnam.

In this arrangement Fulbright seems to put the Viet Cong on the same plane of power with North Vietnam, although the Johnson administration considers North Vietnam the main adversary.

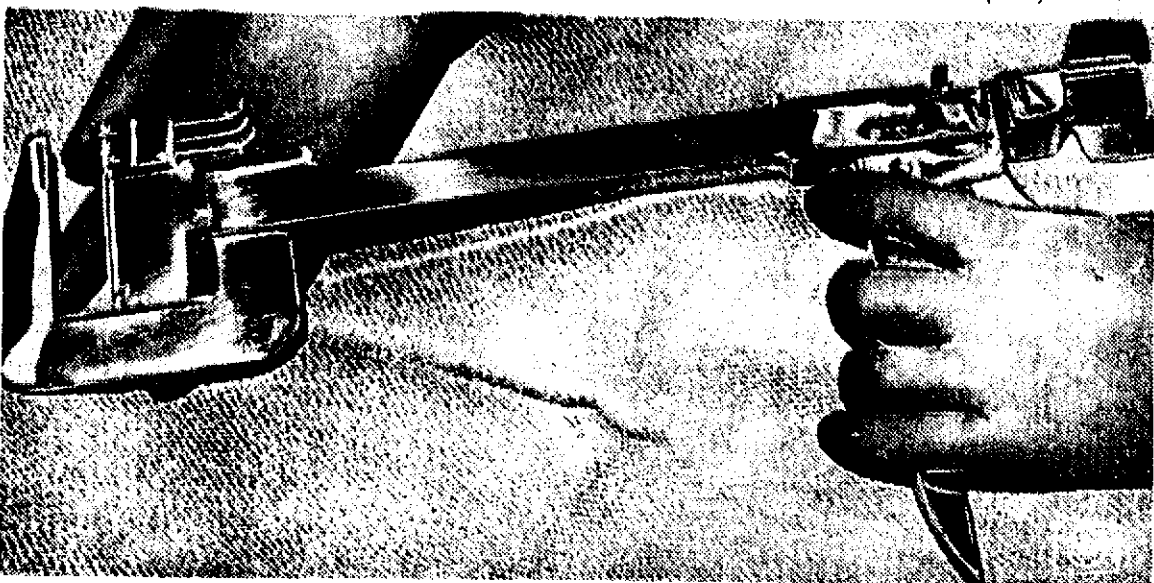

And, Fulbright suggests, the United States should pledge to remove its forces from South Vietnam. That is what Johnson did at the Manila Conference last fall, provided peace was restored.

Then there should be an international conference — which would have to include Red China — to guarantee an agreement on self-determination for the Vietnamese, plus a plan for a referendum and reunification of North and South Vietnam.

The Viet Cong, of course, would have to be part of any government in South Vietnam. They could hardly agree to any peace plan as Fulbright's that didn't include them. But, once they were part of such a government, how long would their opposition last?

The same international conference should try to work out arrangements for neutralizing all Southeast Asia. Would the Red Chinese agree to that? If they did, how much meaning would it have, in view of their program to communize the world?

Finally, if no peace agreement is reached, according to Fulbright, the United States should consolidate its forces in certain fortified areas, or enclaves. But that would leave the Viet Cong free to roam the rest of the country.

SURGICAL STAPLER developed by the Russians is being used on rare occasions in the United States. The instrument is used to suture organs and speed up certain operations such as those on the lungs, heart and stomach. The stapler uses hand-loaded cartridges to fire tiny stainless steel staples into the tissue. Only three of the instruments are now in use in the United States.

Practice of Medicine in Drastic Change

By ROB WOOD
DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The practice of medicine in the United States has changed drastically in recent years. In almost every hamlet or city a great need expressed by community leaders is "for more doctors."

Physicians say it is almost impossible to keep stride with the gains made in medical research. Doctors are slipping behind because of a heavy patient load and fewer hours in which to study the hundreds of journals that carry the latest discoveries in medicine.

In an effort to solve this problem, the Duke University Medical Center established one of the nation's first departments of community health sciences. Under the direction of Dr. Harvey Estes, it is attempting to persuade physicians to take a new approach to community medical needs.

The department will work with physicians to ease the work load and to provide time for refresher courses; assist medical schools in preparing doctors; develop technicians and paramedics to take some of the routine work now done by physicians; and will seek ways to provide instant medical attention for all.

Estes, in an interview, said there were too few doctors to meet the medical needs in cities and no doctors at all in many rural communities. Fifteen years ago, he said, there were 110 physicians per 100,000 population. Today the ratio has dipped to 97 to 100,000.

The first steps taken by the new Department of Community Health Science include a medical-school program aimed at training a new kind of family physician and a drive to bring doctors into a group-type system.

As envisioned by Dr. Estes, the medical practice of the future will include groups of at least 10 doctors working in the same building, pooling their talents.

For example, Estes said, the

Practice of Medicine in Drastic Change

unit will include two family physicians, two internists, a gynecologist, an obstetrician, a pediatrician, a psychiatrist, and possibly two surgeons.

Estes wants the doctors to provide a walk-in, 24-hour-a-day clinic "where an individual can receive immediate treatment." The patient's first visit would be with the family physician. The doctor either would treat the illness or injury or refer the individual to one of the specialists in the group.

$100,000 Purse in L.A. Meet

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 41st annual Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament, with a purse of $100,000, was ready to get under way today following a classic foul-up in the pro-amateur prelude.

Arnold Palmer was back to defend the title he earned last year and won once before, in 1963. So were U.S. Open champion Bill Casper and the Masters champion, Jack Nicklaus, neither of whom has won this one.

The Big Three — there is no Big Four since Gary Player is not on deck — dominate the scene at the 6,821-yard, par-36-35-71 Rancho golf course.

The turf is damp and soft from heavy rains earlier in the week, but Nicklaus said, "The course is not too bad. It's better than the two other times I've played it, and the grass is the best I've ever seen here."

Casper added, "It's a little damp, but it ought to dry out." The pro-am event Wednesday turned into a shambles, and scores of all the professionals were erased. It seems a greenskeeper — kindly he was not identified — moved the position of several cups after play began.

Under PGA rules this meant that some pros, in effect, played one course, and the others, another course.

So the $5,000 pro-am purse was split between the 54 pros, each receiving $92.

Hammerschmidt on Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, D-Ark., Wednesday was appointed to the Public Works and Veterans Affairs committees.

Hammerschmidt said he had hoped for the Public Works assignment but that House GOP leaders urged him to take two assignments to strengthen his legislative base and experience.

The former Harrison lumber dealer, who upset veteran Rep. J. W. Trimble last November, said Arkansas' Democratic delegation to Congress had urged him to seek a Public Works post since the state had not been represented on the committee for sometime.

lic records to file a complaint in the circuit court of their district rather than in Pulaski Circuit Court.

Rep. John Miller of Melbourne sought to bring up a concurrent resolution asking Rockefeller to use his authority to enforce the state's gambling laws in Hot Springs and Garland County. The resolution, however, was referred to the Committee on Memorials and Resolutions after a motion to suspend the rules and consider it lacked four votes for the required two-thirds.

Miller introduced an identical resolution last week, but the committee reported it out with a "do not pass" recommendation Wednesday. This recommendation had the effect of burying the measure.

The House also passed bills: — Authorizing driver's licenses costing $4 to be issued every two years in the birth month of the applicant.

— Allowing out-of-state contractors credit for taxes they pay in other states on equipment they use in Arkansas.

— Raising the maximum authorization for welfare assistance grants to the aged and blind from $100 to $125.

— Making state income tax deductions for charitable donations conform to the federal code.

— Requiring truckers to buy the amount of fuel in Arkansas that they need in passing through the state or pay an extra four cents a gallon and raising the factor for figuring taxes on diesel motor fuel from five to six miles, giving truckers a 20 per cent reduction in the diesel tax.

In other action Wednesday, the Senate approved measures that would:

— Permit educations of $500 in federal income taxes from state income tax returns.

— Permit cities of at least 2,500 persons to establish a city administrator form of government, which combines various features of the City Manager form of government and the Mayor-Council form of government.

— Reduce the fees on license tags for taxicabs from $75 to $15 a year.

— Urge Congress to restore all federal aid highway funds.

— Set the deadline for introduction of appropriations measures at 10 days prior to adjournment and the deadline for other bills at five days prior to adjournment.

The Senate convenes at 1 p.m. Thursday.

2 Killed Near Charleston

CHARLESTON, Ark. (AP) — Two persons were killed Wednesday night when their car struck the rear of a truck on Arkansas 22 about one-half mile east of Charleston.

State Police identified the victims as Delbert E. Quimby, 53, of Pine Bluff and Iva R. Dickert, about 45, of Barling (Sebastian County).

Officers said Quimby was driving the car that struck a truck driven by Carl Sory of Charleston.

Legend of Tower of London Kept

By THOMAS A. REEDY
LONDON (AP) — Rising costs have added 42 cents a week to the household budget of the Tower of London.

The extra money is for horse-meat.

The meat is for six captive ravens.

A legend going back centuries holds that the Tower and Britain with it will fall if the ravens depart.

Nobody really believes that, but neither the crown nor the government is taking any chances.

The Tower budget is shared by a number of government departments, but as Britain's prime tourist attraction it pretty well pays for itself. The ravens and the legend behind them are part of that attraction.

One of the guards — known as Beefeaters — Henry Thomas Johns, was fresh out of the army in 1948 when he was appointed master of the ravens.

They know his whistle, they know his footsteps as he approaches every morning to turn them loose from the cages and spread around a breakfast on the greenlawns.

Lovers of carrion, the ravens gobble up the meat and sometimes bury some of it rather like a squirrel hides nuts. The older and more decomposed the meat gets, the better they like it.

These evil-looking birds aren't pets by any means. They'd peck the queen if they got the chance. Their croak sounds like the very doom of the ancient Tower once meant for so many unfortunates who lost their heads on the chopping block.

Every three months Johns clips their wings, which if left alone would spread four feet. Unable to fly, the ravens lurch drunkenly about the 18 acres of the Tower of London, croaking and pecking anything they choose — even the mortar in the cracks of some of the oldest walls.

Actually the Tower of London is eight towers erected one after the other, from the time of William the Conqueror, into a formidable fortress.

Its role as a fortress established the legend of the ravens. The original fortress, known as the White Tower, was surrounded by woods 850 years ago and ravens flocked around it to gobble up the garbage the garrison heaved out.

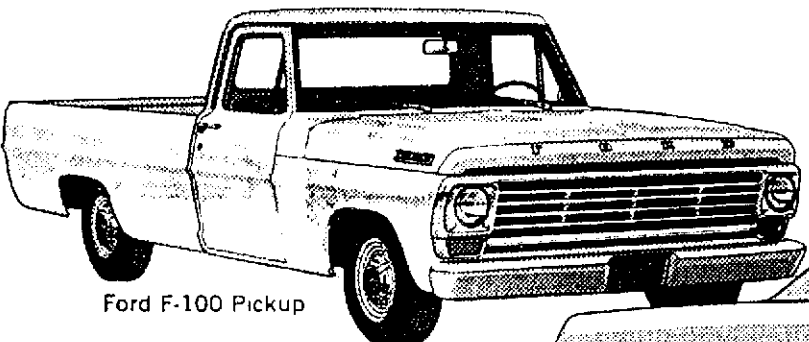

In the 17th century, enemies of the restoration of Charles II crept up to Tower Hill one night to seize it, the king and power. Startled ravens set up such a croaking that the sentries were fully alerted.

King Charles ordered the ravens protected and fed from public funds.

The birds come from Cornwall, Wales and Scotland and are donated as needed. They grow old, for birds. Cora, the oldest now, is 21. One of them which lived through World War II got to be 44 before croaking his last.

When a raven dies, the raven master accords it what he calls "an honorable burial."

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG Checking Other Ailments Sometimes Cures Anemia

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am anemic but when I was in the hospital recently I was not allowed to eat liver. What could be the reason for this?

A—Liver is of value chiefly in the treatment of pernicious anemia. It is of limited value in other forms of the disease and even in pernicious anemia it has been largely replaced by injections of vitamin B-12. The reason for not allowing liver in your diet might be a tendency toward gout.

Q—What is the treatment of aplastic anemia?

A—In aplastic anemia the low red blood cell count is caused by a failure of the marrow to produce new red cells fast enough to replace those that wear out. Iron preparations are given to stimulate red cell production. Severe cases require transfusions. Cure is possible only if the cause—leukemia, bone marrow tumors or diseases of the spleen—can be found and removed.

Q—What is "hypochromic anemia"? Can it be cured?

A—In hypochromic anemia the red blood cells are smaller and fewer than normal and are lacking in normal iron content. It can be cured by supplying iron and by finding and eradicating the source of the chronic blood loss such as bleeding piles or stomach or intestinal bleeding due to large doses of aspirin or other cause.

Q—My son and daughter, both past 20, have hereditary spherocytosis which causes them to have hemolytic anemia. What causes this and what is the treatment?

A—Hereditary spherocytosis or hemolytic jaundice is characterized by the prevalence in the blood of spherocytes in form of abnormal red blood cells, the destruction of red cells and enlarged spleen. The best results are obtained by removal of the spleen.

Q—For the past year I have had spells of heart fibrillation that last from two to four hours. Yawning or stretching may trigger an attack. I am taking quinidine for it. What is the cause? Is it serious?

A—Fibrillation (rapid ineffectual contractions of the auricles) may be due to an overactive thyroid, rheumatic heart disease or coronary artery disease—all potentially serious conditions. Quinidine is an old standby that is still widely used. In addition to treating the cause, an electric pacemaker may be advisable.

Q—What is meant by syncope on an arteriosclerotic basis?

A—Fainting due to hardening of the arteries.

Once They Taught That This World Was a Flat One!

Last Monday the United States Supreme Court held that a New York state law requiring a school teacher to take a loyalty oath is unconstitutional.

All loyal Americans agree with the purpose, but the law that was enacted reminds us of the adage: "The road to hell is paved with good intentions."

It is one thing to weed out Communist influence among teaching staffs. This is a supervisory job which the people hold their school boards and administrators accountable for.

But an all-inclusive "law" requiring every applicant to take an oath that he is a loyal American citizen is a sinister something else. You are assuming a person is guilty — even before he is charged — despite the fact that the keystone of the United States Constitution declares all citizens shall be presumed to be innocent until proven guilty.

It was precisely this presumption of guilt on which the king's judges and the dictator's henchmen used to throw our ancestors in jail in the Old Country — precisely the reason that our ancestors' first stipulation was that in the New World all men would be presumed innocent until proven guilty.

No American can be required to take an oath stating that he is only what he ought to be. The $64 question you should ask yourself is, who is this super-American who claims the right to go around demanding that other Americans take oaths?

I'll tell you who he is: He is the seed of that same despotism that expelled us from Europe and which we carried across the sea with us to this new country — and now threatens to raise the Old Country's tyranny in this New World.

The schools are close to the hearts of all of us, therefore a favorite battleground for Communists and Dictators. But our ancestors were battle-wise, having been actually jailed or shot in the Old Country — therefore we would be stupid indeed if we failed to heed the safeguards of liberty and justice which they wrote into the American Constitution — and which the United States Supreme Court upheld last Monday.

The "do-gooders" such as the makers of loyalty oaths have a sorry record of their own, especially with the public schools. Time was when school boards used to exact of all teacher applicants a statement of beliefs.

"Now, take the world — how do you teach it — Flat or Round?"

If you came up with "Flat" you got the job.

But if you were a person of learning and integrity and courage and answered "Round" — you went back to hard labor.

Those early school board "do-gooders" are long gone, of course — but the world still rolls Round and true.

Arkansas State Day Proclaimed

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Jonesboro Mayor Neil Stallings proclaimed Wednesday "ASU Day" as students and faculty members at Arkansas State College celebrated enactment of a state law that gives the school university status effective July 1.

Dr. Carl Reng, the school president, told an assembly that never in the school's history had it been indebted to so many people.

Reng paid tribute to a long list of supporters for their efforts and work in helping Arkansas State attain university status.

Bonus Bill for Teachers Is Offered

By ROBERT L. SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas legislature moved Wednesday to give teachers a "bonus" of $160 to $170 and the protection of a tenure law.

Administration bills following up on Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's inaugural call for a careful approach to constitutional revision also reached the legislature.

The House passed a bill distributing $2,790,000 in accumulated school funds to the teachers, who would share the money equally. The funds accumulated because of a technicality in the 1965 appropriation law that prevented their distribution last year.

Rep. Sherman Williams of Little Rock, author of the bill, said he thought equal distribution was the best method of passing out the funds, although some representatives said they wished it could be done on a formula basis in order to reduce some inequities that exist in the distribution of regular funds under the present school aid formula.

Rep. Jack S. Oakes of Augusta said a pro-rate distribution would compound existing inequities, but said he would vote for the measure because he wants the teachers to have the money. The bill passed by a vote of 98-0.

Duplicate bills were introduced in the Senate and House providing that a teacher with a tenure of three years may be dismissed only because of immorality, unprofessional conduct, insubordination, failure to follow reasonable written regulations, physical or mental disability, inefficiency or incompetency.

Teachers would have the right to a review by the school board and appeal of the board decision to circuit court.

Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock and Rep. Virgil Butler of Batesville introduced bills creating a 30-member Constitutional Revision Study Commission that would meet 30 days after the measure becomes effective and report its findings no later than next Jan. 1.

The commission would recommend changes in the Constitution and the procedure for making them if it found constitutional revision was needed.

Rockefeller said in his inaugural address that a study should precede any call for a constitutional convention. Several measures, however, have been introduced calling for a constitutional convention.

The House passed a bill after lengthy debate requiring trading stamps to be printed showing their redeemable cash value and permitting the stamps to be redeemed for cash as well as merchandise.

Rep. Herb Rule of Little Rock said the bill by Rep. Bernice Kizer of Fort Smith was an example of "legislative overkill," although he thought the stamps were a nuisance. He asked Mrs. Kizer, who said she didn't think her bill would cost trading stamp companies very much for the extra printing and bookkeeping, whether the measure would have the effect of abolishing trading stamps.

"It doesn't spell it out in this bill," said Mrs. Kizer. The Senate has a bill pending that abolishes trading stamps. The Senate voted to decide this afternoon on 13 of Rockefeller's appointments to state boards and commissions.

Confirmation of the appointments reportedly has been delayed because of opposition to the selection of John Haley of Little Rock to the state Penitentiary Commission, Joe Brooks of Jonesboro to the board of directors of Arkansas State College at Jonesboro and Miss Anne Payton of West Memphis to the board of the Girls Training School at Alexander.

The Senate also made some minor amendments in Allen's "freedom of information" bill, including a provision to permit persons denied access to publish.

LBJ's Social Security Tax Bill Could Cost Young Man $25,000

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — To a young man just starting out in life and expecting modest success, President Johnson's new proposals mean a lifetime Social Security tax bill of something like $25,000 — with a lot of ifs attached.

For his money, he could look forward to retirement benefits at 65 more than half again as high as at present — $279 monthly plus $140 for his wife. Also, Medicare after retirement and increased benefits for his wife and children in case of his early death.

To compute what such a man would pay requires making several assumptions. The first is that Congress would enact the Johnson proposals and then make no further changes for the next 43 years — not a very realistic one. Congress several times has changed the benefit and tax structures in the 30 years since Social Security began.

Even if it did not do so again, the prospective changes built into present law plus the Johnson proposals would amount to eight variations during our hero's working life.

Assuming all this, assuming he starts out this year at 21 with a salary of $5,000 and is raised $1,000 a year until his pay catches up with the maximum Social Security coverage, here are his unofficially calculated prospects:

This year he pays $195 for basic Social Security and $25 for Medicare, $220 total.

For the next few years, his tax bill rises rather steeply. He is getting more pay — and has not yet hit the ceiling for the payroll tax — and, besides, there is a rate increase in 1969. In that year he pays $315 Social Security and $35 Medicare — $350 total. By 1971 the tap totals $445.

Taylor Named Head of Road Commission

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission said Wednesday it would let at least $2.25 million worth of road job contracts next month.

The commission also said it may let even more if court orders on right-of-way and utility agreements are reached on projects ready to be placed under contract.

The Ozark Bridge on Arkansas 23 over the Arkansas River will also be placed under contract. It is expected to require about $2 million for reconstruction.

Armill Taylor of Clarksville was elected chairman of the commission, succeeding Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart. Hampton's term expired earlier this month.

Truman Baker of Searcy was elected vice chairman.

Former Sen. Lawrence Blackwell of Pine Bluff attended his first meeting since his appointment by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. Blackwell, a former commission member, was co-author of the Mack-Blackwell Amendment, designed to take highway affairs out of politics.

Chinese Army Told to Jail Foes of Mao

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's New China News Agency today reported resistance to Mao's purge by 10,000 workers in Shansi Province and called for the immediate arrest of all opponents of the Communist party chairman and his heir apparent, Defense Minister Lin Biao.

Mao's forces had claimed they seized control of Shansi, adjoining Peking, from supporters of President Liu Shao-chi on Jan. 12 with the help of army units. But the official news agency reported today that a few days ago the "despicable swine" who support Liu had thrown 10,000 workers against the Maoists.

"Some incidents even developed into struggles by force," the agency said, quoting a communique from pro-Mao "rebels" in Shansi.

"Operations in many enterprises were suspended, production was seriously affected and shocking traffic accidents occurred."

The report said Liu's forces were refusing to surrender the provincial party committee and had "formed a number of loyalist organizations to create trouble wildly and openly against the pro-Mao revolutionary rebels."

To meet what it called "the sinister means of economic warfare" employed by Liu's forces, the Maoists ordered the circulating capital of all organizations, mines and enterprises frozen. They called on all workers, peasants and functionaries to "carry on work as usual."

As the turmoil on the mainland continued unabated, Japanese correspondents relayed more reports from wall posters in Peking, none of them confirmable.

These were the highlights: Vice Premier Tao Chu, denounced as the power behind recent bloody resistance to Mao in Canton and Nanking, has died of heart disease in a Peking hospital. Raised earlier in the purge to the standing committee of the party politburo, he turned on Mao after a decision to unleash the purge on the big city industries.

Large crowds in Peking assembled before a poster accusing Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, a leader of the purge, of sheltering reactionaries in two Peking universities and refusing to listen to foes of Mao who have turned over a new leaf. The 27 signers said they were reformed reactionaries.

WR Will Not Hand Out Racing Passes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller says his office will not distribute free passes to Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs this year.

"I personally feel that it is inappropriate for the governor's office, or any branch of the state government, to be concerned with the distribution of these passes and I do not want it done during my administration," Rockefeller said.

The governor told a news conference Wednesday that previous administrations had distributed about 2,500 passes to the horse race track.

Bethel B. Larey, state revenue commissioner, said his department would not accept any passes because "we are not in the business of giving out passes. We need to get on with the business of the state."

Rockefeller said he was returning to Oaklawn 2,500 passes sent him to give to his friends.

The governor also told newsmen that he may become a favorite son candidate for either president or vice president at the 1968 Republican national convention, but added that he has no intention of seeking seriously either office.

On other subjects covered during this news conference, Rockefeller said that:

— He hoped the House of Representatives would defeat bills approved in the Senate Tuesday to change the method of determining Arkansas' majority party and requiring Senate confirmation of all gubernatorial appointments to state boards.

Legislature Measures Introduced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Measures introduced in the legislature Wednesday included:

— A bill distributing equally among teachers any excess in public school funds in the next biennium.

— An act permitting state retirement systems to invest retirement funds in certificates of deposit in Arkansas banks.

Prosperity Everywhere, Sources Say Says Johnson in Message on Economy

AP News Digest

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sends his annual economic report to Congress today, predicting rising prosperity with easier credit and less inflation this year.

Key findings of the report, third and last of the major required presidential messages to the new Congress, were disclosed in Johnson's budget message.

So it is known that Johnson and his Council of Economic Advisers were prepared to predict that:

National output will rise by more than $47 billion from the 1966 total to a record $787 billion in the seventh successive year of boom.

The increase will be slower than the 8.5 per cent rise in 1966. It would be about 6 per cent in dollar terms but only 4 per cent when adjusted for price rises.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are text highlights from President Johnson's economic message:

In purely material terms, most Americans are better off than ever before.

Prosperity is everywhere evident. But prosperity is never without problems, and in 1966 — some of them were serious.

Restoring price stability is one of our major tasks. It will not be accomplished all at once, or all in 1967. That could be done — if at all — only at the cost of mass unemployment, idle machines, and intolerable economic waste. But a gradual return to stability can go hand in hand with steady economic advance.

Once again, I appeal to business and labor — in their own interest and that of the nation — for the utmost restraint and responsibility in wage and price decisions.

Despite all our efforts for an honorable peace in Vietnam, the war continues. I cannot predict when it will end. Thus our plans must assume its long duration.

But when the welcome day of peace arrives, we will need quick adjustments in our economic policies. We must be prepared for those adjustments, ready to act rapidly — both to avoid interruption of our prosperity and to take full and immediate advantage of our opportunities.

Our task for 1967 will require a flexible and delicate balance of economic policies. Above all, we must guard against any interruption of our prosperity.

Food Stamp to More Counties

Sales Down, Production of Cars Cut

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry faced up again today to the fact that the tempo of new car sales has slowed down. Production cuts were ordered.

General Motors and Chrysler reshuffled production schedules to slow down the number of new cars flowing into an already abundantly stocked market.

GM, giant of the auto makers, announced indefinite layoffs for 1,900 Chevrolet workers. It previously had given similar notices to 2,800 other GM workers.

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Informal sources report the Johnson administration has barred American pilots from flying within five miles of the center of Hanoi.

Informants said Wednesday the new restrictions apparently were issued in response to the widely published reports of civilian bombing casualties stemming from U. S. attacks in North Vietnam.

The new orders, drawn up within the past week by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, amount to a near-total ban on all U. S. bomber flights over Hanoi and its immediate suburbs.

Under the new restrictions, sources said, pilots will be permitted to fly within five miles of the city only if the overflight occurs during air-to-air combat with enemy fighters.

"That means if somebody's shooting at you, you can shoot back," one source said.

More Iron Triangle Raids Made

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. B52 bombers struck only 32 miles north of Saigon in the "iron triangle" today and in two other raids during the day pounded Communist position on the central coast of South Vietnam.

The triple air blow followed a day of minor ground fighting in the South and air strikes curtailed by weather in the North.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters announced that American troop strength topped the 400,000 mark last Saturday, an increase of 5,000 over the previous week.

U. S. headquarters also announced that American casualties dropped last week while South Vietnamese authorities reported a sharp increase in casualties to government forces.

The U. S. Command said 123 Americans were killed and 716 were wounded compared with 144 killed and 1,044 wounded during the previous week. Vietnamese headquarters reported 340 government soldiers killed last week, 143 more than the 197 reported killed the week before.

The largest ground action reported today involved units of the South Korean White Horse Division, operating near Tuy Hoa on the coast 230 miles northeast of Saigon. The division's 28th regiment went after Viet Cong soldiers holed up in caves and reported killing 53 of the enemy Wednesday and today.

Natural disaster—floods and flash fires—can make their needs even more pressing. On hand to help in Viet Nam, as it has been in scores of troubled nations around the world for two decades, is CARE. And as always, the most poignant beneficiaries of the non-profit agency's efforts are the children.

Another fire victim, left, takes home a textile package providing needles, thread and fabric to clothe a family of five. A sackful of rice, right, will keep this boy's family alive as they rebuild their home.

Soap is almost as vital as food. The bathing place may be only a muddy river, but the result can be an almost magical clearing up of sores and skin irritations.

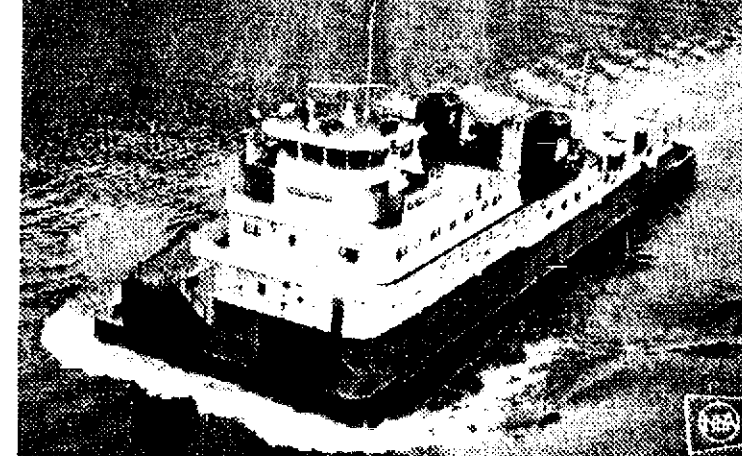

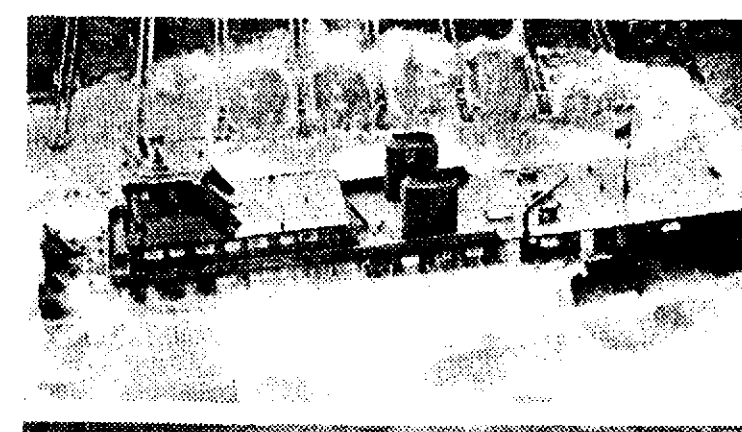

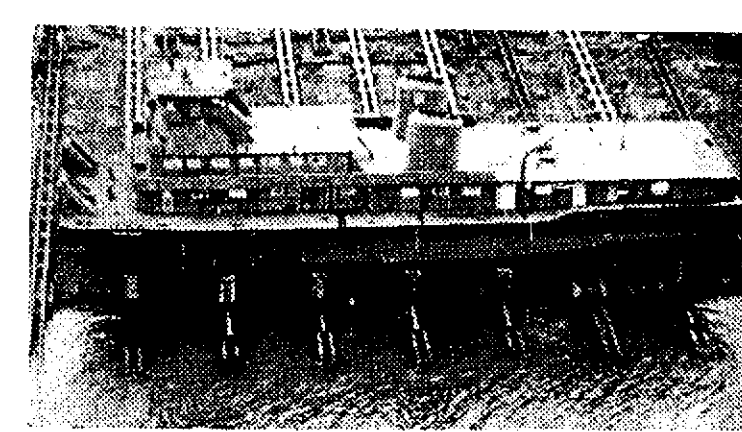

And there are needs for the long-term welfare of Viet Nam's children—books and school supplies that parents often cannot afford.

HER LEGS twisted and deformed, a tiny Vietnamese girl struggles into the arms of an Australian soldier near Saigon. Thanks to the work of an Australian medical team, the little girl will soon be walking without the aid of her bamboo crutches.

AMPHIBIOUS VEHICLE built by Canadian John Gower, the "Jiger" has a glass fiber hull-body, moves on six low pressure rubber wheels and is powered by two six h.p. engines. It will be displayed at the Mid-America Boat Show in Cleveland Jan. 20-29.

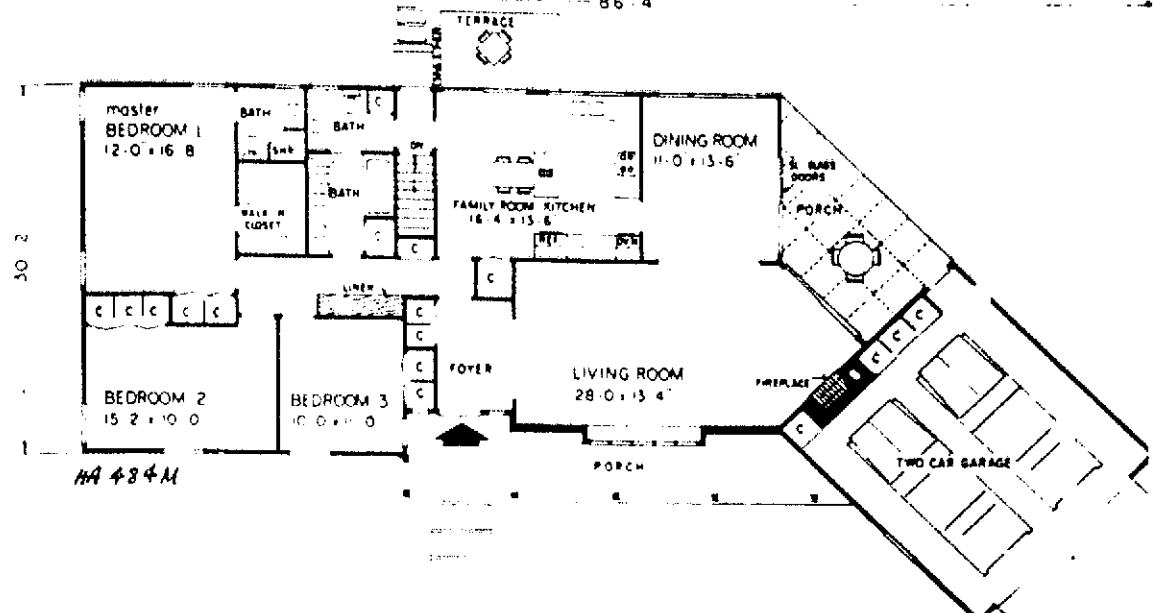

DOWN THE WAYS and into the water goes another modern towboat for the expanding fleet operating on the nation's more than 4,000 miles of navigable inland waterways. The vessel, the 6,440-horsepower Lillian Clark built for the Mississippi Valley Barge Line Co. by Dravo Corp. of Pittsburgh, displaced more than a quarter million gallons of water when it hit the water, second picture. Bottom shows the towboat completely fitted and ready for service on the middle and lower Mississippi. Low costs and navigation improvements on many rivers, such as the Ohio and Arkansas, are behind a boom in freight shipments by water.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS EARLY AMERICAN FARM HOUSE is a modern one-story. The angle plan of the attached garage creates immediate interest, both outside and in. In the living room it forms a triangular conversation corner at the fireplace. The home's traffic circulation from front and rear entrances is excellent. Note the wash-up facilities near the rear door. The combination family room-kitchen combines spaciousness with efficiency. The bathroom has access from bedrooms, outdoors, kitchen, basement and terrace. The closet space is exceptional, especially the master bedroom's walk-in closet. Plan HA484M was designed by R. A. Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N.Y. 11501, and contains 1,691 square feet of living space.

Roundup Is on in Santo Domingo
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Police swept through Santo Domingo and other cities during the night, rounding up dozens of persons accused of taking part in a plot to overthrow President Joaquin Balaguer.
Gen. Luis Ney Tejeda, head of the National Police, said about 33 persons have already been rounded up. Dispatches from Santiago, the nation's second city, reported the arrest of a number of men who took part in the April 1965 revolt to restore ex-President Juan Bosch to power.
Among those caught in the dragnet was Maximo Lopez Molina, president of the Orthodox Communist party and founder of the Dominican Popular Movement.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Here's a special cake for Valentine's Day that's as easy to make as falling in love.
Just add peanut butter and a little orange rind to a package of yellow cake mix. Add peanut butter also to a vanilla frosting mix. The result will be a unique fluffy frosting.
To decorate your cake with an edible rose, just follow these simple instructions for making it from sliced gumdrops.
age. Gradually beat in lukewarm water. Put cake layer on a serving platter. Spread with frosting and top with second layer. Frost sides and top of cake. Press chopped peanuts into frosting at side of cake. Cut gumdrops into thin round slices. Roll slices in sugar. Press overlapping rounds of gumdrops together to shape a rose. Put on cake. Decorate with leaves and stems made of thin slices of gumdrops cut into shape with scissors. Decorate platter with a lace doily.

DeGaulle Is Shutting Gate on British
By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle is shutting the gates of the European Common Market on Britain again for an indefinite time to come.
This seems the only conclusion to draw from his treatment of Prime Minister Harold Wilson's mission arguing the case for British entry.
Wilson flies home tonight with no more than an undertaking from De Gaulle to consult France's five Common Market partners but not before April, a month after the French parliamentary elections.
The encounter between the French and British leaders has been, behind the formalities, a battle for the high ground of European politics.
A French-led Europe would tend to look inward, toward the Ural Mountains on the east. It probably would resist the capture of industry after industry by the Americans.
A British-led Europe almost certainly would gaze across the western and southern oceans, seeing the world as one, cherishing its links with the New World.
The British are fairly sure they can count on the other five nations of the Common Market — West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg — to back any formal application they make to join their thriving customs union.
But the French hold a trump in the reality that the Common Market is a going concern in which all members are prospering and anxious to preserve that prosperity, while Britain is decidedly not prospering.
As usual, De Gaulle played the perfect host. He received Wilson and foreign Secretary George Brown graciously at the Elysee Palace Tuesday, invited Wilson to talk first and listened courteously while Wilson made Britain's case for a European destiny.
Then the frost began to descend.
De Gaulle declined to comment on the broad themes made by Wilson. He asked a few pointed questions, then set the issue aside for three months, until leaders of the Common Market states hold a summit meeting in Rome.
Wilson characteristically took the issues to the people of France and of Europe over the head of the French government. Addressing the Council of Europe in Strasbourg Monday, he said if his bid to enter the Common Market fails, "the fault will not lie at Britain's door." It was a challenge to De Gaulle to say no as he did four years ago.
Had Brief History
The history of the Pony Express was brief, lasting a bare 18 months. The first rider left St. Joseph, Mo., on April 3, 1860, the last official trip took place Oct. 24, 1861.

do pennies make a difference in your food bill?

You bet they do.

And we should know.

We built our business by saving pennies for generations of folks like you.

For instance, take our policy on multiple-priced items.

If an item is priced 3 for 25¢, the price for one is obviously 9¢.

But what happens if you want two?

Do you pay 2 times 9¢ or 18¢?

Not at A&P.

We sell it at 2 for 17¢.

That's the fair way—the A&P way.

Yes, in the food business...

in food budgeting, pennies make a difference.

We watch them for you and for us.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

Jack Up the Leaning Tower?

SHUNAT, Jordan (AP) — A dam being built on the fringe of the desert in Jordan has yielded an engineering idea on how to straighten up the leaning tower of Pisa.

"You could put jacks underneath it and hoist it the way you change a tire on your car," suggests the construction manager of the Shueib Dam in the Jordan Valley, who has installed six such jacks to lift a 100-foot concrete tower.

The British-built dam is under construction here by Balfour Beatty and Co. Ltd. of London to control flood waters running out of the desert. In its center stands the massive control tower, built on shifting and unpredictable ground. In a unique engineering scheme, six French hydraulic jacks have been installed below it to keep the structure level.

"They can lift 3,000 tons. If the tower starts to tilt, we push a button and it straightens itself," says Eric Greig, of Perth, Scotland, the construction manager.

"For the Pisa tower, it might be possible to inject chemicals into the ground to solidify the earth, then build a concrete raft underneath and mount the jacks," Greig said.

The Scottish engineer said there was another unique aspect to the Shueib project — it is being built so deep in the Jordan Valley that it is below sea level.

"Building below sea level is the same as building anywhere else," said Greig, "but the atmospheric pressure is so high down here that the machines and equipment work much better than on a normal job."

Like Old Gray Mare, Almighty Dollar Ain't What It Used to Be

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Whatever happened to the almighty dollar, which many foreigners claim that Americans worship?

If we do, we are bowing down to an anemic idol. For, like the Old Gray Mare, the almighty dollar ain't what it used to be.

As a matter of fact, the almighty dollar looks like a mighty sick buck. It has been suffering weakening relapses for a long time now, and it is unlikely that any miracle medicine will be found that can restore it completely to its youthful vigor.

Everything in life tends to lose strength as it passes its prime and begins to age. This is as generally true of paper currencies as it is of people.

The dollar may still be a long way from the financial graveyard, but it will probably never again be the big strong buck of yore.

Now and then an event occurs that forces us to realize what inflationary malnutrition has done to the value of the dollar. Such a happening last week was the disclosure that shoeshines in some areas here have gone up to 35 cents — and that doesn't include the tip.

"Thirty-five cents for a shoeshine!" The unbelieving cry went up. "What can happen next?"

Well, that is pretty easy to prophesy. The cost of shoeshines in time will go to 50 cents, then 75 cents, and then — probably before man starts building real estate developments on the moon — to one dollar.

There are babies being born right now who will even live to see the day when they will pay $2 for a shoeshine — $1 for each shoe.

Anyone who is over 50 and who has weathered a number of depressions and several hot and cold wars also has a melancholy awareness of the various steps in the erosion of the dollar in his lifetime.

About the only gadgets left that haven't raised their prices in the last two generations are the penny gumball machine and the penny scales.

Yep, money gets tired, it doesn't travel as far as it did when it was younger. Most of us have long realized that money isn't everything. What does dismay us, however, is the realization that money isn't even what it used to be — and in some future tomorrow won't be what it is today.

But ailing as the almighty dollar may be, no one wants to turn his back on it. Everybody seems to be trying to get his hands on as many dollars as he can.

Better a sick friend than none at all.

Two Escapees Re-captured

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—Two boys who escaped from the Arkansas Boys Training School at Pine Bluff Tuesday were captured near here Wednesday without a struggle.

The Jackson County Sheriff's office said the youths had stolen a car at Pine Bluff, wrecked it 12 miles south of here Wednesday and were finally apprehended at the Island community five miles south of Newport.

Officers said the youths held a farmer at bay with a high powered rifle as the two escaped across a field after wrecking the car.

State Trooper Scott Brown said that he found a .32 caliber rifle and $100 in change on the youths when he captured them.

The officers said the money, car office said the youths had stolen a car at Pine Bluff, same home at Pine Bluff.
